

“A ‘MUST-READ’ for any philanthropic group wishing to inspire and ignite social change.”

—BILL NOVELLI, former CEO, AARP, professor, Georgetown University and co-chair, Coalition to Transform Advanced Care (C-TAC)

“THE PHILOSOPHY and organizational processes that The Bravewell Collaborative used in its philanthropic work can be applied by any organization wishing to build strong teams and get real results.”

—GEN. STANLEY A. McCHRISTAL, former commander of the Joint Special Operations Command in Iraq and author of Team of Teams: New Rules of Engagement for a Complex World

“THE BRAVEWELL STORY illustrates what can ensue when people with foresight and determination put ego aside and advance a vision for the greater good. This committed group of philanthropists saw a path forward to improving a healthcare system that falls short for so many individuals by showing that a better way is possible.”

—JUDY SALERNO, MD, MS, president and chief executive officer of Susan G. Komen® and former executive officer of the Institute of Medicine

“VERY FEW PROBLEMS are easily solved by one person or one organization. What is needed to create large scale social change is vision combined with collaboration of a higher order. This is that story.”

—JACKI ZEHNER, CEO of Women Moving Millions

“THE BRAVEWELL COLLABORATIVE exemplifies my belief in everyone’s ability to use their talents and access to think big and forge new paths. As told in the book, the funding collaborators used their access to existing field leaders, successful models, and individual expertise to drive social change and change the field of medicine in our country. This unprecedented collaboration is a model for philanthropists of all capacities to look to and learn from.”

—FRANCINE LEFRAK, award-winning film producer and founder of Same Sky
